VIKA Capitol recognizes that these are very difficult economic times for everyone, particularly in the construction and land development industries. We have all been struggling to respond to economic forces that are beyond our individual control, and each of us is looking for creative ways to help our clients keep their projects on track and within budget.

In an effort to do our part to help you with your engineering, planning and surveying budgets, VIKA Capitol has taken an important step to unilaterally reduce our hourly billing rates by an average of 15%. These rates are effective immediately. Please contact oliver@vikacapitol.com if you would like a copy of our new rate schedule.

Our new pricing is part of VIKA Capitol's commitment in part of the group effort and team work that will make our clients' projects successful. VIKA Capitol will provide the same top quality service, on time and on budget, but at new competitive rates that are responsive to the challenging times we face together.

We look forward to your business and believe that this is one more way that VIKA Capitol can help contribute to your success, as well as the success of your projects. Our land development professionals stand ready to assist you on current and future land surveying, civil engineering and landscape architectural projects.
